...ation in the EVERGREEN SITE

A dark, high-contrast, black and white photograph of a dense, textured surface. The image shows vertical lines and a rough, mottled texture, possibly a wall or a large piece of fabric. The lighting is dramatic, with deep shadows and bright highlights, creating a sense of depth and texture. The overall appearance is grainy and abstract, with no discernible figures or objects.

It is strictly a Mutual Accident Association, and issues certificates for different amounts, ranging from $1,000 to $5,000 death benefits, and from $7.50 to $25 weekly indemnity.—No person can carry more than one certificate, and only for such an amount of insurance and indemnity as their classification according to occupation entitles them to.

By becoming a member of this Association you have the advantage of not only carrying the insurance and indemnity together, but you can carry either one alone, by only paying a proportionate rate of assessment. This feature is not granted you by but few, if any other Mutual Accident Associations.

The certificates of this Association entitles the member to one-fourth the principal sum of said certificate for the positive and total loss of one arm above the elbow, or one leg above the knee, or the sight of one eye. Remember that the one-fourth of the principal sum referred to, will be paid you in addition to the weekly indemnity which you would receive for that particular accident.

$5,000 insurance and $25 weekly indemnity in the preferred class costs about $13 per year, or less than one-half of the old-line rates. Smaller amounts of insurance and weekly indemnity at proportionately less rates.

INTRODUCTORY.

The citizens of Bloomington have an opportunity to compare this work with former so-called Directories. While not claiming perfection (something almost unattainable), we are satisfied with its general correctness, and should our patrons feel satisfied with our efforts we shall seek their support in the future.

The number of names contained in this Directory is 10,749, which multiplied by $2\frac{1}{2}$ (the lowest factor used), gives a population of 26,872. Deducting 2500 for Normal, leaves the bona-fide population of Bloomington 24,372.

Thanking the citizens for their kindness, and our patrons for their favors, we remain,

Respectfully,

W. F. CURTIS & CO.

The Pantagraph.

W. O. DAVIS, PROPRIETOR.

THE DAILY PANTAGRAPH.
THE WEEKLY PANTAGRAPH.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL.

THE PANTAGRAPH covers a large territory in Central Illinois. The Daily, published every morning in the week except Sunday, is the ONLY MORNING PAPER IN BLOOMINGTON.

It publishes the full telegraphic report of the Northwestern Associated Press; also special telegrams from points not covered by the Associated Press. The subscription price is delivered by carrier or mail. Its Circulation is very much larger than that of any other Daily published in Bloomington, and is delivered by carriers in the city and about a hundred towns and villages within a radius of fifty miles.

The Weekly is the oldest paper, the best family paper, and has the largest circulation of any weekly published in Illinois outside of Chicago. It is taken by the farmers generally in McLean County, and the adjacent counties of Woodford, Tazewell, Mason, Logan, DeWitt, Piatt, Champaign, Ford, and Livingston. The subscription price is $1.50 per year, strictly in advance.

The Pantagraph has an able editorial staff and a well-disciplined corps of correspondents in all the towns in its territory. It publishes all the news, local, state, and national.

It has a fixed schedule of advertising rates, to which we strictly adhere, and which will be made known on application.
